Good Nominations and Good Sense. Phitadelphia Ledger, Ind.

The two nominations for state officers are unusually good. Hon. George A Jenks, the nominee for justice of the supreme court, is an able and thorough lawyer and an upright and honorable man, possessing the strong respect of his fellowcitizens of both parties. He represented the XXVth Pennsylvania district (Armstrong, Clarion, Jefferson, Forest and Indiana counties) in the national House of Representatives in Congress from 1875 to 1877, and was very highly esteemed in that body He forty-four years of age. Col. Robert P. Dechert, our own townsman, who is the nominee for auditor general needs no introdution here. He is a prominent member of the junior bar, did his duty faithfully as a soldier during the war against the rebellion, represented Philadelphia honestly and honorably in the state Senate district, and served with credit as one of the assistents to District Attorney Furman Sheppard. He is now colonal of the veteran Second regiment of state National

MORAVIAN ENTERTAINMENT.

Music, Recitations and a Lecture. Notwithstanding the heavy rain storm that prevailed last evening, the lecture room of the Moravian church was filled with a large audience in attendance on the entertainment given for the benefit of the Sunday school by the "Boys' Working Club, "composed of Sunday school scholars. After a brief introductory address by Rev. C. B. Shultz, the "Carnival of Venice" was admirably sung by Misses Nellie and Edith Johnston, with piano accompaniment by Prof. F. W. Haas. "Lochinvar's Ride" was recited by Walter Morenzy with fine elecutionary effect, after which Miss Nellie Johnston sang the soprano solo, "Fly Forth, oh, Gentle Dove." "Sounds From Home," a violin solo, with organ accompaniment, was executed in a masterly solo, "Tell Me How to Woo Thee," musical selections.

An Old Lady Falls Down Stairs. Mrs. Mary Sloan, aged 80 years, met with a serious accident at the residence of her son-in-law, James L. Messenkop, No. 15 Middle street, on Wednesday. THE TROUBADOURS. Merry-Making in Fulton Opera House. "The rain didn't keep 'em away." The arge audience assembled at Fulton opera house last evening, despite the fact that the rain was descending in torrents several hours prior to the opening of the doors and continued throughout the evening, was high appreciation in which the famous organization known as Salsbury's Troubadours is held in this community. After an absence of several years, this sparkling little company appeared before a Lancaster audience brighter and better than ever. It is composed of the following ladies and gentlemen: Miss Nellie McHenry, Miss Helene Dingeon and Messrs, N. Salsbury John Webster and John Gourley, all of whom were afforded an opportunity of performing their several specialty acts in the merry bill presented during the evening, and which opened with an amusing little sketch entitled "Cross Purposes," that had the effect of putting the audience in excellent appetite for the to which he was elected from a Republican feast that followed. "The Brook" is the title of a musical extravaganza in which the company had been extensively billed. It consists of a melange of mirth-provoking incidents which are supposed to transpire at a dinner in the woods, given by a party profession. The revelers are in overflowing spirits, which find vent in a continued succession of funny situations, merry-making and ridiculous mishaps likely to occur at any wellregulated picnic, together with no small amount of pretty tunes and melodies, taken from popular operas and recent compositions, blended with recitations and comicalities, which the party improvise in a sort of miniature theatrical performance. Mr. Salsbury's imitations of an English swell, a French barber, a Jew pawnbroker, an Irish "terrier," a "Down East It is altogether too Yankee" and several other characters, in tone of voice and action were true to life and pleased the audience immensely, while his impersonation of a tramp describing the misfortunes that had come upon himself and his family was intensely realistic. Mr. John Gourley, is a comedian sui generis, and the complete metamorphoses he managed to render in his appearance were scarcely less remarkable than his actions were irresistibly funny. Mr. Webster, too, gave additional zest to the performance by his laughable impersonations. Of the ladies Miss Mellener is a dashing little soubrette, fall of line and animal spirits, a veritable "little kicker;" her singing, dancing and general vivacity "took" extremely well with the audience, especially her rendition of a laughing song, in which her cachinnation apparently infected the audience, and one individual became so hysterical as to temporarily divide the attention of the audience. Miss Helene Dingeon, the other lady of the party. has a soprano voice of a peculiarly sweet quality, fine texture and splendid range manner by Prof. J. B. Kevinski, after and volume. Her rendition of the opening which Arthur Sullivan's favorite contralto air of "The Brook," and, later on, the was famous drinking song from the opera of rendered by Miss Edith Johnston, "The "Girofle-Girofla"—the effect of the latter Sailor Boy's Dream" was recited by Mr. being enhanced by Miss McHenry's Morenzy, and the first part of the pro- fine contralto-won her the pronounced gramme closed with a violin solo, "Trau- tayor of the audience. > Lancaster County at the State Convention. In the resolutions committee of the Democratic state convention Messrs. Raub and Weidler, of this county, voted against any instructions and against the unit rule. In the convention all the Lancaster delegates voted against the unit rule, except Grier, substituted for Wm. B. Given. All except Grier voted for Jenks for supreme judge; he voted for Fox. Mr. Grier also voted with the minority for Herrick for auditor general; several of the Lancaster delegates voted for Playford for elector. Pending the contest over the delegates from the upper district, Mr. Hensel was substituted in the convention from the Lancaster district for Mr. Brubaker; before the balloting on candidates the substitution was withdrawn and Mr. Brubaker was in his seat and voted on all candidates and all questions of principle. An unusually large number of Lancaster countians attended the convention, from sixty to seventy being in Harrisburg on Eastern bound trains over the Pennsylvania railroad last night were filled with delegates and others, who were returning from the state convention at Harrisburg. Unexpected Action of the Pardon Board-A Unanimous Recommendation of Par-don for the Riot Bill Bribers— Judge Pearson Claimed to Have Exceeded His Authority

HARRISBURG, Pa., April 30.—The board of pardons met this morning, Messrs. Quay, Stone and Dunkel being present. After a formal application by the for the prisoners now counsel serving their term for conviction of corrupt solicitation-Messrs. Kemble, Crawford, Salter, Petroff and Rumberger-the board retired for half an hour for consultation, and finally recommended the pardon of all five so far as their imprisonment is concerned. This does not include a remission of the fines and costs imposed or the disqualification to hold office.

The recommendation is signed by the entire board, notwithstanding the fact that Palmer was not present, and is substantially as follows : That the act of 1874 provides for simple imprisonment, and that there is no law for the imposition of additional conditions in the sentence, such an imprisonment at separate and solitary confinement with hard labor. The supreme court have often decided these enlarged sentences unlawful, and, by common law, imprisonment in the penitentiaay has been regarded infamous. As these are offences recently made punishable, and the first convictions under a new law, the board recommends as above.
